

APIDC
Asians and Pacific Islanders with Disabilities of California

2018 Youth Leadership Institute

APIDC's Youth Leadership Institute is aimed at training people to become advocates for Asians and Pacific Islanders (APIs) with disabilities. We seek college students from all walks of life and ethnicities who have a passion for empowering APIs with disabilities.

The Youth Leadership Institute focuses on a combination of developing grassroots leadership skills and providing a safe space for mutual sharing and learning. Participants are selected from a broad variety of backgrounds who show a strong potential to become future leaders.

If you have any questions, please email yli.apidc@gmail.com or call (213)207-6838. Thank you for your interest!

2015 Graduate and Pasadena City College graduate Brian: "The Youth Leadership Institute helped me go into the community and start an outreach program. I authored an adapted welding course that was offered this year."

2014 Graduate Raymond: "I learned about the ADA, networking and public speaking and took my learnings to apply for 501(c)(3) for the (support group) "Survive or Thrive" that I co-founded....I look forward to using what I learned in my new job at Disability Rights California."

2016 Graduate and UC Santa Barbara PhD student Ann: "The program was a journey of self-cultivation; it catalyzed my exploration of what it truly means to live the intersectionality of being an Asian American woman and having a disability"

Program Dates: April 15, 22 & 29, 2018
Application Deadline: March 9, 2018
